

Pedagogy and Philosophy

Doctor of Education (EdD)

The EdD in Pedagogy and Philosophy was Montclair State University's first doctoral program and is one of a very few programs in the country that bring the disciplines of pedagogy and philosophy into dynamic interaction. The program has successfully prepared students for careers in:

- Teacher Education
- Philosophy of Education
- Educational Foundations
- Teaching philosophy in middle schools, high schools, and community colleges
- K-12 classroom teaching that employs philosophical methods

For more information

973-655-7332
peph@mail.montclair.edu

The EdD in Pedagogy and Philosophy is designed for students of high academic caliber, with strong backgrounds in education and/or philosophy. Students in the program will have opportunities to engage in many types of inquiry and practice, including:

- Engage in rigorous coursework with faculty from the Departments of Curriculum and Teaching; Educational Foundations; Early Childhood, Elementary and Literacy Education; and Philosophy
- Teach courses including Philosophical Orientation to Education, History of American Education, and Gender Issues in Education
- Assist faculty conducting original empirical and philosophical research
- Train with the Institute for the Advancement of Philosophy for Children (IAPC) to participate in its philosophy programs in local elementary schools
- Present their work at regional and national conferences or submit their work for publication in professional journals, with the support of faculty advisors

MONTCLAIR STATE
UNIVERSITY